Stranger Thoughts 20 Week Student Planner

A 20 Week Student Planner Featuring Pages for Weekly Scheduling, Daily Homework Tracking, and Project Planning.

A student planner any fan of the series would be excited to use! This is a great gift. Are you looking for a way to help a student start the new year off on the right foot? The second half of the school year is a challenge? This student planner is a wonderful tool to help any student get organized and successfully meet those challenges. Each of the 130 pages in this 6"x9" planner is designed to help students successfully and easily organize and track homework activities projects This planner is 20 weeks long. It is intended for half a school year. Each week of the planner is divided into 6 pages containing: 1 week at a glance summary page 5 daily homework tracking pages The homework tacking pages are clearly divided into sections for each assignment. This system allows the student to note: the class assignment details due date separate checkboxes for finishing vs handing in assignments Today, students lead hectic lives with many activities and rotating schedules. It is very easy for students to complete an assignment then forget to hand it in. This system allows students to easily keep track of the status of every assignment. The planner is divided into 2 ten-week sections. At the end of each section is a 2-page project planning spread. Time management is a challenging skill to master. The project planning area has a timeline page when students can: note the start note the ending date plan goals to accomplish throughout the project Timelines are a great tool for learning time management for visual learners and thinkers. IMPORTANT NOTE: This is the half-year version of our planner. A full-year, 40-week, version is also available. Visit Quick-Witted Books' Author Page to see a complete listing of our books.

From Student to Urban Planner

Young Practitioners' Reflections on Contemporary Ethical Challenges

Routledge For many young planners, the noble intentions with going to planning school seem starkly out of place in the neoliberal worlds they have come to inhabit. For some, the huge gap between the power they thought they would have and what they actually do is not only worrying, but also deeply discouraging. But for some others, practice means finding practical and creative solutions to overcome challenges and complexities. How do young planners in different settings respond to seemingly similar situations like these?

What do they do – give up, adjust, or fight back? What role did their planning education play, and could it have helped in preparing and assisting them to respond to the world they are encountering? In this edited volume, stories of young planners from sixteen countries that engage these questions are presented. The sixteen cases range from settings with older, established planning systems (e.g., USA, the Netherlands, and the UK) to settings where the system is less set (e.g., Brazil), being remodeled (e.g., South Africa and Bosnia Herzegovina), and under stress (e.g., Turkey and Poland). Each chapter explores what might be done differently to prepare young planners for the complexities and challenges of their 'real worlds'. This book not only points out what is absent, but also offers planning educators an alternative vision. The editors and esteemed contributors provide reflections and suggestions as to how this new generation of young planners can be supported to survive in, embrace, and change the world they are encountering, and, in the spirit of planning, endeavor to 'change it for the better'.
